

Client: Volvo Dun Laoghaire Regatta Print
Source: The Irish Times (Main)
Date: 08 July 2017
Page: 7
Reach: 72011
Size: 133cm2
Value: 2210.46

---

Briefs

Sailing

Light winds frustrate sailors during coastal course

Despite good racing conditions inside Dublin Bay yesterday, light winds frustrated many of the classes competing in the long coastal course of the Volvo Dún Laoghaire Regatta, which was shortened by late afternoon off Bray.

A combined fleet of 475 boats are competing in 35 events. By far the best conditions were off Seapoint Bay for the various dinghy classes. Among the traditional

Water Wags, the world's oldest one-design dinghy, Guy Kilroy added his fourth straight win of the series to lead his class though must still contend with Claudine Murphy's Mariposa just five points behind in second place.

There were other straight wins on record elsewhere with Richard Colwell's Fusion from Howth leading Class 3 on IRC handicap with his Corby 25 footer.

DAVID BRANIGAN